

Accessible Typing Programs

TypeAbility

Compatible with JAWS and Fusion and gets its speech capabilities from those programs. You should not purchase this if you do not have JAWS or Fusion on your computer. The cost is $150 for a single download.

Typio & Typio Pro

An accessible typing tutor for kids, teens, and adults. It is an online program with yearly subscriptions starting at $59.

Talking Typer

A program from APH that must be installed to the computer, which includes drills, practice, and typing games for students with different skill and sight levels. It costs $79.00 and is self-voicing software that is not in need of another program to work, such as JAWS or Fusion. Also comes in the form of a free iOS app.

Typing Club

A free website to learn touch typing. It is not automatically accessible for blind and low vision, but you can turn the Voice Over feature on by beginning a lesson and clicking on the volume icon in the upper right corner of the webpage. From there, you can enable VoiceOver.
